Job Advertisement for a Student Assistant, 5 hours per week, starting on 15th of September or 1st of October 2020

Ruhr University Bochum (RUB) is one of Germany’s leading research universities, encompassing the entire range of academic disciplines in a single and progressive campus. This highly dynamic setting enables students and researchers to work across the traditional boundaries between academic subjects and faculties.

The Institute for International Law of Peace and Armed Conflict (Institut für Friedenssicherungsrecht und Humanitäres Völkerrecht, IFHV) is an interdisciplinary research institute at RUB located at the Bochumer Fenster, near Bochum’s main station. Beyond its strong focus on and expertise in international law, the institute fosters research and teaching in the field of Humanitarian Studies, while bringing together experts from the Faculties of Law, Social Science, Geosciences, and Public Health.

Your field of responsibility includes some of these tasks:

- Supporting the editorial work of the academic journal ‘Journal of International Law of Peace and Armed Conflict (JILPAC)’ (Humanitäres Völkerrecht, HuV) and other publications of the IFHV in the field of law or social science;
- Supporting the coordination of the IFHV’s NOHA Master’s program in humanitarian action;
- Supporting the planning and implementation of international conferences, congresses, workshops and other events of the institute;
- Supporting the teaching and research of Professor Thielbörger in the field of public law and public international law with a focus on the law of peace and international humanitarian law;
- Researching information and creation of documentation;
- Supporting the management of the institute;
- Supporting research and teaching of the project “Trainingsprogramm zur Stärkung der Kapazitäten von Mitarbeiter_Innen deutscher humanitärer NROs”.
